Criminalization of Domestic Minor Sex Trafficking

Maryland’s sex trafficking law clearly defines a minor under the age of 18 used in a commercial sex act as a human trafficking victim without regard to use of force, fraud, or coercion. The state commercial sexual exploitation of children (CSEC) laws include abduction of a child under 16, sexual solicitation of a minor, sale of a minor, and child pornography. Maryland’s CSEC laws do not refer to the sex trafficking law for prosecution and victim protection.

Criminal Provisions Addressing Demand

The state sex trafficking law does not on its face apply to buyers of sex with a trafficked child. The CSEC offenses of sexual solicitation of a minor and child pornography include the crime of buying or attempting to buy sex with a minor and solicitation laws distinguish between buying sex with an adult versus buying sex with a minor. Both CSEC offenses also include use of the Internet to solicit a minor to engage in prostitution or unlawful sexual conduct and might apply to buyers who use the Internet for this purpose. However, none of the laws applicable to buyers expressly prohibit buyers from using a mistake of age defense. Possessing child pornography is punishable by imprisonment up to 5 years and/or a fine not to exceed $2,500, or imprisonment up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $10,000 for subsequent convictions. Although not mandatory, the court may order a buyer to pay restitution when the victim has suffered pecuniary loss, including loss of earnings, or incurred medical or other expenses. Buyers convicted of either a CSEC offense or a prostitution offense involving a minor are required to register as sex offenders.

Criminal Provisions for Traffickers

Sex trafficking of a minor is punishable by imprisonment up to 25 years and/or a fine up to $15,000. Abduction of a child under 16 is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $5,000, and sexual solicitation of a minor is a felony punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $25,000. Sale of a minor is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment up to five years and/or a fine up to $10,000. Creating and promoting child pornography is punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $25,000, or by imprisonment up to 20 years and/or a fine up to $50,000 for subsequent convictions.

Sexual solicitation of a minor, which includes using the Internet to solicit a minor to engage in prostitution with another person, might apply to traffickers who use the Internet for this purpose. Although not mandatory, the court may order a trafficker to pay restitution when the victim has suffered pecuniary loss, including loss of earnings, or incurred medical or other expenses. Traffickers convicted of either a CSEC offense or a prostitution offense involving a minor are required to register as sex offenders.
The state human trafficking law includes the crime of benefitting from sex trafficking of a child and is punishable by imprisonment up to 25 years and/or a fine up to $15,000. A facilitator who uses a computer to disseminate information and facilitate unlawful sexual conduct with a minor is guilty of a felony punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $25,000 (20 years and/or a fine up to $50,000 for subsequent convictions). Promoting or selling child pornography is a felony punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $25,000. A person who provides online storage of graphics, images or videos and fails to report or remove child pornography found on the server is a facilitator and guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine up to $5,000 for a first conviction, $20,000 for a second conviction, or $30,000 for each subsequent conviction. Although not mandatory, the court may order a facilitator to pay restitution when the victim has suffered pecuniary loss, including loss of earnings, or incurred medical or other expenses. No laws in Maryland address sex tourism specifically.

Training on human trafficking is not mandated in Maryland. Single party consent to audiotaping is permitted and wiretapping is permitted for investigations of sex trafficking, kidnapping, child pornography, and sexual solicitation of a minor, giving law enforcement powerful tools to investigate and collect actionable evidence for prosecutions. Use of a decoy and use of the Internet are permitted in an investigation of sexual solicitation of a minor, which is violated when a defendant solicits by computer or Internet a law enforcement officer posing as a minor. Maryland law requires law enforcement to report missing children, but does not mandate reporting of recovered children.
