

The Report Cards on Child & Youth Sex Trafficking Advanced Legislative Framework builds on the original Protected Innocence Challenge Framework, preserving the most fundamental components while including new policy priorities that reflect feedback and research from the field—particularly in the area of victim protections. The advanced framework will be used to grade the states next fall when we release the inaugural Report Cards on Child & Youth Sex Trafficking. As such, the 2021 legislative session is a critical time for your state to strengthen its laws before report cards and corresponding grades are issued.

So what is NEW YORK's current score and what changes are needed? As of August 1, 2019, NEW YORK HAD RAISED ITS GRADE FROM D TO C:

NEW YORK

| 2019 | SCORE | GRADE | 10 | 16 | 12.5 | 9 | 13.5 | 10 |
|------|-------|-------|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 71 | C | 10 | 25 | 15 | 10 | 27.5 | 15 |
| | | |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 2011 | SCORE | GRADE | 3.5 | 11.5 | 11 | 8.5 | 18.5 | 8.5 |
| | 61.5 | D | 10 | 25 | 15 | 10 | 27.5 | 15 |

The child sex trafficking law does not apply to buyers, and penalties under the buyer-applicable commercial sexual exploitation of children (CSEC) laws do not reflect the seriousness of those offenses. Further, state law does not prohibit the criminalization of minors for prostitution, and specialized services are only available through an alternative juvenile justice process.

To support implementation of the Report Cards on Child & Youth Sex Trafficking Advanced Legislative Framework, our Policy Team will remain available to provide rapid, technical assistance to support legislators, advocates, and state agencies; technical assistance requests can be submitted here.
